Gyle and Sam Keating helped organize the event and took photos.

According to Martin, the wind was perfect and the weeds were perfectly annoying but the sailing was fun. All the sea lawyers skipped the event and so it was very convivial!

Right: Martin still smiling after coming last in one race! Note the size of the weed clumps on his keel!

Paul came on strong in the last few races and finished with a win. Smiles all round at a very enjoyable event. Thanks to HASSI for all the support and to Russ for being so encouraging about the event.

Above: Note the danger of having two green boats in the same race. Other than sailing the wrong green boat a couple of times, Jill did a great job, was ahead of Martin several times and beat Martin in the last race. Amazingly there was no damage to her boat in the above incident.

Above: One of the starts. Jill is the green boat #98. Note the good wind, blowing right into the harbour and pretty steady.
